Wildwood-"Billee Taylor." The management of Wildwood summer opera had an experience last night, denied to all but the managers of successful theatrical productions. They saw the big tent packed with a crowd that fell only a few dozen short of the biggest crowd at Wildwood since the season opened. When the directors strolled around the big auditorium filled with people, their hearts dropped with a sudden thud at the thought of closing the season at a time when Wildwood seems to be growing in great favor fith the Indianapolis public. It was an ideal night for summer opera. The atmosphere was dry and delightfully refreshing to one who may have been cooped up all day in the overheated city. The moon as big as a tub—of course, not as big as the biggest tub you can think of, but just an ordinary sized tub painted green or yellow—shed a flood of silver light over the grounds, inviting to a romantic promenade between the acts. Whether it was the glorious night or the performance of "Billee Taylor," the was in excellent spirits and greatly ed the opera. Mr. Smith in the role of Captain Flapper was a favorite from his first song. Both his acting and singing struck everyone as being particularly good. The change from the broad comedy role of Bolero in "Girofle-Girofla" was striking and showed that in the new member Wildod had secured an artist who would come one of the greatest favorites here, for the regretted early closing of the

VICTORY FOR TILLMAN.

Judges Decide Against St. John in the Debate on Prohibition.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9 .- A large crowd filled the auditorium at the Prohibition Park, at Port Richmond, to-night, to listen to the debate on "Prohibition," by ex-Governor John P. St. John, of Kansas, who spoke for the system, and United States Senator B. R. Tillman, of South Carolina, who opposed it. Ex-Governor St. John declared that the dispensary system was not in accord with the laws of the State and was evil. South Carolina had laws, he said, prohibiting crimes the same as those of every other State, and he could not understand why the State could permit the sale of liquor, which was also a crime. The speaker gave at length the statistics of the financial standing of the various States where prohibition was being strictly enforced. He compared Kansas with South Carolina, showing that Kansas had, within the past ten years, exceeded South Carolina in wealth, and claimed that this was largely due to prohibition.

Senator Tillman said that such a comparison was unjust. Kansas had many more miles of territory than South Carolina, and, with her enormous corn crops and other en-terprises, she had a great advantage, while South Carolina had always been under a disadvantge. The State, he said, was to-day paying $2,000,000 annually toward the day paying $2,000,000 annually toward the pension of Northern soldiers, who assisted in the war against the Confederates. He claimed, however, that South Carolina was prosperous and the people happy, and that within a few years she would be on an equal footing with Kansas. He spoke at length of the benefits of the dispensary system in that State, and said it had lessened drunkenness. He said there was no doubt that within the next ten years the Prohibitionists would abandon their prohibitory laws and come out in full force for the dispensary system.

ENDEAVOR CONVENTION HELD THE BETHANY GROUNDS.

New Cottage Dedicated-J. Miller Delivers Assembly Lecture-The Day at Acton.

It was a happy arrangement of the managers of Bethany Assembly in placing the Christian Endeavor convention immediately following Butler University day, as the attendance for both days was greatly increased thereby. Heretofore the convention of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor has only occupied one day, but in the last few years the number of the young people has so materially increased that the programmes have had to be enlarged in order to include all the good things and all the business necessary to be transacted. Accordingly, this year the managers allotted two days to the young people, and consequently the whole day yesterday was, and all of to-day will be devoted to them and to their use. A great many of those who had gone to the park to attend the exercises of Butler University day remained to attend the young people's convention, and with the farge number who arrived on the morning trains yesterday the crowd was one of the largest which has been present this season. It took several hours for all to be served at the hotel dining room. The restaurant, which has been doing a rushing business, was also overcrowded, and the boarding houses in Brooklyn, which have been receiving a large share of the patronage, came in for their part. The Christian Endeavor cottage, which was built during the last year, was dedicated with appropriate exercises in the afternoon, and all of the services in the tabernacle, which were entirely appropriate to the young peole, were well attended.

The sunrise prayer meeting was the first service of the day. It was held in the pensary system.

The jury, which had been selected at the Thursday night's meeting, to decide upon the merits of the speeches, to-night gave a verdict, by a vote of 11 to 8, in favor of Senature Christian Endeavor cottage, and was led by Miss Garnet Ashbrook, of Indianapolis. At 8 o'clock there was a reception held at the cottage, when every delegate was a for Tillman. pected to register. At 9 o'clock, B. B. Tyler delivered the fifth of his series of talks to young people on the "Christian Endeavor Pledge." The special topic for the talk was "Christian Living." At 9:30 S. G. Neff, district superintend-ent, of Richmond, conducted the opening exercises. There were two opening addresses. The first was on the subject "The Meaning of Our Monogram," which was delivered by Charles Fillmore, of Peru. He called attention to a number of phrases which the monogram of the two letters, "C. E.." may represent. Among these were "Christ Exalted, Character Enobled and Cheerful Enthusiasm." econd address was by Charles R. Hudson, of North Vernon, who spoke of the "C. E. Weather Vane. After some miscellaneous business an address was devered by Rev. Lee Tinsley, of Delphi, on he subject "Christ, the Worker, a Model." At 11 o'clock the assembly lecture was delivered by John C. muer, one of the pioneer preachers of the Church of Disciples. Mr. Miller chose for his subject Some of the Evils of the Day." He said hat he had choser a practical subject and ead as a text two verses from the fifth chapter of Ephesians, as follows: "See then that ye walk circumspectly, not as tools, but as wise. Redeeming the time, because the days are evil."

"All times have had their special evils," aid he. "We have our evils to-day, but believe the world is growing better.' This is a time of extravagance. There is a greater demand for money than there is source for obtaining it. The old system of economics has been overturned. And yet, to-day, we see $10 where we formerly saw $1. Again, to-day is a time of commercial strife. To-day everyone is independent of everyone else. Formerly all men worked together and assisted each other. There is also social discontent and political discontent. ontent. We are counseled in our Bible to e auxious for nothing. It is right that we should make all the money possible to use in God's work, but this feeling of discontent is contrary to His word. Another evil of the times is the doubtful business mtehods and the temptation which they throw out to Christians. I don't mean the saloon, but do mean the drug store where the cask kept in the back room. There should have been a clause in our temperance law regulating these places. Again, I mean the bucket shops and the Boards of Trade. There the polished gambler lives and becomes a parasite on the face of the earth. The trusts form another example, as they are banded together for the purpose of crushing the poor man out of existence. It is a time of hilarity and fun also. I Would not cast a cloud over the lives of our young people for the disappointments of life will come soon enough, but life is a serious matter and must not be passed away lightly. In conclusion let me say that the most of us have but a few years left wherein to do good, so let us realize before it is too late, that we are wasting time if we are not engaged in the work of br. H. J. Hall, of Franklin, presided at the afternoon session. The main address was that of Rev. J. S. Myers, of Sedalia, Mo., who is the Christian Endeavor superntendent of that State. He delivered the address dedicating the new Christian En-deavor cottage. He made a strong plea for more systematic work and for closer organization. He said that Christian Enleavor rests on four cornerstones, namely, organization, obligation, expression and soelability, and without these no society can be solidly built. Following his address a call was made for pledges to defray the extra expenses of the structure, as several hundred dollars more were spent in its construction than had been expected. Shares of stock at $1 per share were offered and most of the societies over the State took stock through the delegates. $1,000, the amount desired, was easily raised. At 2 there was an open parliament con-"Christian Endeavor and the Church," in which a great many took part. After a song service in the evening, led by W. E. M. Browne, Rev. O. W. Stewart, of Eureka, Ill., State secretary of the Illi-C. E. Union, made an address to a crowded house on "Levalty to Christ."

The convention continues to-day and the officers for the ensuing year will be elected his afternoon. A concert will be given in this afternoon. A concert will be given in the tabernacle this evening. Great preparations are being made for a large crowd on Sunday. It had been announced without authority that B. B. Tyler would preach in Indianapolis Sunday, but this report is denied, and it is stated that he will preach only at Bethany Park on that day. His sermon will be delivered at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, and will be the last which he will deliver before he leaves for his home. will deliver before he leaves for his home in New York. He will deliver the last of his series of talks to young people this morning.

Rev. R. Roberts Elected Superintendent-The Children's Exercises.

Yesterday was children's day at Acton Rev. C. W. Tinsley preached the morning sermon on "The Divine Inspiration of the Bible." The sermon first considered the mportance of divine inspiration and the reasons, and passed to the modes of attack upon the Scriptures, among which criticism, higher or lower, is one of the most potent. The speaker distinguished between inspiration and revelation. Mr. Tinsley does not accept the theory of verbal inspiration. and among other pointed arguments used was that the inscriptions on the cross are given by each evangelist in different wording. He says the Bible must not be exmined with reckless methods, and thinks the German materialists are the originators of the so-called higher criticism, but comes criticism. The services of the children's choir were more effective than the bell in calling a large congregation to the tabernacle at 2 o'clock. The front of the building was all reserved for the children. Rev. J. R. T. Lathrop, of Shelbyville First Church, called this the most important audience assem-bled on this camp-meeting occasion. He said he had a sermon for the children, with an introduction, and argument and a con-clusion, and displayed a drawing repre-senting a car managed by children. Two boys act as conductor and brakeman. This car, it was explained, was the car of state and of the church. Uncle Sam on the second picture asked, "What will you do for your country?" On the third sheet the question was asked, "What will you do for Christ?" as the inquiry of the church. The leaf contained the text, "Let us, therefore, cast off the works of darkness and let us put on the armor of light." The works of darkness and of light were next shown, while a little boy taking his first wrong step was on the succeeding sheet. The straight gate through which a man with the works of darkness was trying to pass, was followed by a drawing of the est time of the meeting for the distance.

At the conclusion of this exercise, which was to the parents of the children as well as to the children themselves, Mr. Nickerson sang a song for the little ones. Rev. H. S. His theme was "The I'wo Pillars." He spoke of the necessity for pillars to matter, as matter will not remain suspended, and said: "Think of a man who in life thought and dreamed only of matter, and at death still clung to it, when it was proving an insufficient pillar! A man that in time of death would still seek to rest upon these earthly pillars is as un-reasonable as an architect who would at-

The new board of trustees held a meeting and elected Rev. R. Roberts superintendent, to assume the duties Sept. 1. They also set apart cottage 11 for headquarters of the W. H. M. society, and No. 10, which was donated by Mrs. S. A. Vanpelt, of Shelbyville, was given to Miss Elsie Dole.

He began by saying that the best citizen is the Christian citizen. He held that every nation had a special mission. Rome made law prominent; England, civilization in general; America seemed raised up for freedom and manhood, and self-government. We have obligations resulting from our geographical position and the peoples to the south especially will be influenced by us. We have the best of the world's blood-mixed blood is best. Our "English" is a language pliable enough to incorporate the thoughts and words of other languages. The in-telligence and thought of our people is high, if not the best. A function of the citizen is loyalty; not loyalty to party, but principle. Parties exalt the tariff and money at the expense of the liquor question. Mr. Hunter declared that there was no statesman in Congress giving serious consideration to the labor question. The speaker pleaded earnestly for common sense in municipal af-fairs, and especially on the part of Christian people. Terre Haute, the speaker said, is bad, but he believed if the Christian peo-ple there would combine, as do the saloon dherents, they could control every election in the interest of good government. Good citizenship lies at the very foundation of home missions. Mr. Hunter is not a pessimist. He believes the laws of Indiana will be enforced within twelve months. We are in the morning of the day when there will be better government.

Mr. Hunter will return to his pulpit for Sunday, but will come back next week to conduct the Endeavor convention, of which he has been made the chairman. The convention begins next Friday night, lasting through Sunday. J. Willis Baer will be Among recent arrivals are: Mrs. W

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 9 .- Dec Turbiville, the jockey, has been set down pending an investigation. He will, however, be allowed to ride for his regular employer, Green Morris, until the matter is settled. Turbiville had the mount on the last three odds-on favorites, Flora Thornton, Amelia May and Crevasse, all of which were defeated. Naturally, this fact excited suspicion, and when Billy Magrane, Amelia May's owner, made a kick about the boy disobeying orders the day he rode his mare, the judges and stewards concluded to take up the matter. After further discussion, the majority report was St. Louis was selected as the place and the first Wednesday of August the time for next year's meeting. Father Cleary, of Willard to request the convention to send the Rev. George Ott, of Chesterton, Md., as fraternal delegate to the convention of the Woman's Temperance Union at Baltimore. The matter was laid over for consideration for the present, Father Ott not being a member of the union.
